Journey through the universe

Anunidhi Sharma, NIE Coordinator, Jain Heritage a Cambridge School

Kondapur

Students from class III and IV of Jain Heritage a Cambridge School, Kondapur visited the Birla Planetarium recently. It was indeed a flight through the universe. This dome-shaped planetarium was developed with the technological help from Japan. The place presents its visitors with latest information about the universe and various invention and theories related to it.

The students watched a 35-minute long "The Sky Show" which is the most attractive feature of the Planetarium. As the lights dimmed and the journey through the vast universe began, the excitement among the students was palpable. The skies came alive on the massive dome theatre. The dome theatre is in the form of a semi-circle which displays the movie, explaining different types of constellations, planets, galaxies, satellites, meteorites, asteroids and factual knowledge in astronomy.

The students also watched a 3D movie about underwater creatures like whales, sea urchins, snakes, sting ray, their feeding habits and their dependency on each other.

The trip proved to be an enjoyable learning experience for the students.

ious inventions and discoveries in his life leaving a lasting impression about Newton in the minds of everyone.

His contributions to Science and Mathematics such as the very important principles of Physics including laws of gravitation, laws of motion and law of cooling and also for developing essential theories of Calculus were presented very well through this creative presentation. They also shared few interesting facts about Sir Isaac Newton - the father of modern science.

Overall, remembering this fascinating figure from the 17th century, who was the quintessential Renaissance man and reflecting on how he revolutionised the understanding of the world was not only informative but also inspirational to one and all.

SAY NO TO PLASTIC

T Swapna, class X, Sree Narayana Vidya Bhavan

Class VII students presented a very entertaining and informative skit recently on the need to stop using plastic.

The skit "Say No to Plastic" was the brainchild of Physics teacher Alok Ranjan. It narrates how a mother and son go to a kirana store, a tiffin centre and juice stall and find the use of plastic everywhere. At this point, a plastic man, played by Kareem, enters and urges every one to use more and more plastic which would help him thrive in the world. People gather in the market to find solutions to get rid of the plastic man. When one suggests that they burn all the plastic, the plastic man declares that he would not die but instead pollute the air that would eventually kill all. When another suggests dumping it in ground, the plastic man replies that he would pollute the soil which would make food grain toxic. If thrown in the gutters, the plastic man said he would block the sewerage causing floods. Finally comes the suggestion that the best way out would be to stop using plastic that would eventually see the end of plastic man.
